

1. What is MDCAT?

MDCAT (Medical and Dental College Admission Test) is a standardized entrance exam in Pakistan for students who want admission to:

- MBBS
- BDS
- DPT
- Pharm-D (in many provinces)
- Other allied health sciences

It is conducted under PMDC (Pakistan Medical & Dental Council) through provincial testing bodies.

2. What is MDCAT test?

The MDCAT test is a multiple-choice (MCQs) based exam designed to evaluate a student's knowledge in science subjects required for medical education.

Subjects included:

- Biology
- Chemistry
- Physics
- English
- Logical Reasoning

Total marks:

- 200 marks
- No negative marking (as per recent policies)

3. How to calculate MDCAT aggregate?

MDCAT aggregate is calculated by combining:

- MDCAT score
- FSc (Pre-Medical) or equivalent marks
- Matric marks

Common formula (may vary by province):

- MDCAT: 50%
- FSc: 40%
- Matric: 10%

4. How to calculate aggregate for MDCAT (example)?

Example:

- MDCAT marks: 150/200
- FSc marks: 900/1100
- Matric marks: 950/1100

Calculation:

- MDCAT: $(150/200) \times 50 = 37.5$
- FSc: $(900/1100) \times 40 = 32.7$
- Matric: $(950/1100) \times 10 = 8.6$

Total Aggregate = 78.8%

5. Is MDCAT necessary for D-Pharmacy?

👉 It depends on the university and province.

- Public universities: Usually YES
- Private universities: Sometimes NO

Some universities allow admission on FSc merit only, while others require MDCAT.

👉 Always check the official admission policy of the university.

6. How to apply for MDCAT test?

Step-by-step process:

1. Visit official MDCAT portal (PMDC / provincial authority)
 2. Create an online account
 3. Fill application form
 4. Upload required documents
 5. Pay test fee via bank / online challan
 6. Download roll number slip
 7. Appear in the test
-

7. How to apply for MDCAT?

You apply online only through the official website announced each year by PMDC or provincial testing agencies (like UHS, KMU, etc.).

! No manual applications are accepted.

8. How to prepare for MDCAT?

Best preparation strategy:

- Study FSc syllabus thoroughly
- Use MDCAT preparation books
- Practice MCQs daily
- Take mock tests
- Focus more on Biology (highest weightage)
- Revise weak topics regularly

👉 Time management and consistency are key.

9. Is calculator allowed in MDCAT?

✗ No, calculators are NOT allowed in MDCAT.

10. Is domicile required for MDCAT?

Yes, domicile is required, but not at the time of MDCAT test.

- MDCAT test dene ke liye domicile zaroori nahi hota
- Admission ke time (public medical colleges) domicile mandatory hota hai
- Private colleges mein kabhi kabhi domicile required nahi hota

👉 Domicile se provincial quota decide hota hai

11. How to check MDCAT result?

Step-by-step:

1. Visit the official MDCAT result website (PMDC / testing authority)

2. Click on “MDCAT Result”
 3. Enter:
 - Roll number OR
 - CNIC/B-Form
 4. Click Search
 5. Download or print your result
-

12. Is MDCAT necessary for BDS?

👉 Yes, MDCAT is mandatory for BDS in Pakistan.

- Public dental colleges → MDCAT compulsory
 - Private dental colleges → Mostly required
 - Without MDCAT, BDS admission is not possible in recognized colleges
-

13. How to find aggregate for MDCAT?

MDCAT aggregate is calculated using:

- MDCAT marks
- FSc (Pre-Medical) marks
- Matric marks

Common weightage:

- MDCAT → 50%
- FSc → 40%
- Matric → 10%

14. What is MDCAT in Pakistan?

In Pakistan, MDCAT is the national-level medical entrance exam conducted under PMDC for admission in:

- MBBS
- BDS
- DPT
- Allied health sciences

It ensures merit-based and transparent admissions.

15. What is NUMS MDCAT?

NUMS MDCAT is the entrance test conducted by:

- National University of Medical Sciences (NUMS)

It is required for admission in:

- Armed Forces medical colleges
- NUMS-affiliated institutions

👉 It is separate from PMDC MDCAT, and students may appear in both tests.